Dear Meredith Adams,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bass
9511 Pasatiempo Dr. Fremont Hills, MO 65714

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bass,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Judge and Mrs. Donald Bonacker
4272 E. Mary Rd. Rogersville, MO 65742-9285

Dear Judge and Mrs. Donald Bonacker,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

1224 E. Stanford St Springfield, Mo 65804

Dear Raymond and Karen Burmood,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

591 Cedar Ridge Road Strafford, MO 65757

Dear Bill and Peggy Clemons,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear George and Maryann Cyr,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Dear Ralph and Connie Eichholz,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Dear Scot Franson,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Dear Carolyn Giffen,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Dear Mary Hansen,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Garold Henson,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

1234 E. University Springfield, MO 65804

Dear Linnea Iantria,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Scott and Marcia Kelley,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lohkamp,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

701 SE 11th St. Lee's Summit, MO 64081

Dear Dave Marshall,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Don and Judy Meyer,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Donna Murney,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

659 Spring Valley Circle Unit 202 Nixa, MO 65714

Dear Kerri Oliver,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Nicole Perkins,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

5063 E. Red Maple Lane Springfield, MO 65809

Dear Gail and Kerry Randolph,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Dear Mark and Susan Rundel,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Dear Doris Sheets,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Dear Bill and Rita St. Gemme,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

1509 W. Maplewood St. Springfield, MO 65807

Dear Ken and Loyette Swanson,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

3825 E. Kingsbury Springfield, MO 65809

Dear George and Jan Tucker,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett

Natalie Wehrman
105 N. State HWY 97 Lockwood MO 65682

Dear Natalie Wehrman,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

3982 E. Forrest Ridge Lane Rogersville, MO 65742

Dear Dr. George and Vicki Wong,

At such a time as this, music is essential to our community experience. Nothing soothes the soul or inspires the heart quite like our voices singing as one.

The Springfield Mid-America Singers are in the midst of our 49th year of music-making under the artistic direction of Tom Matrone. Called together by our love of singing, the Springfield Mid-America Singers are devoted to enriching the community through excellence in choral music.

In 2011, we made all our concerts free to the public in celebration of our 45th anniversary. We'd like to continue this gift and we need YOUR help to match support from Family Pharmacy as our official community partner. Unfortunately, due to the economy and state legislative priorities, we need to make up a $5,000 gap in funding from our annual Missouri Arts Council grant. Would you consider joining us this season at the "Sustainer" level to help make up the difference?

Enclosed is our 2012-2013 Concert Season Brochure describing the SUSTAINER role. For your convenience, also enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your generosity makes the gift of music possible. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours for the Music,

Jennifer Robinett
